Winnetka, 18 miles from the Loop, has established a reputation as one of the most desirable communities in the greater Chicago area. Its stately homes, unique shopping areas, excellent school districts and numerous recreation choices add to its appeal. Many of Winnetka's small businesses are clustered in one of three major shopping areas, which resemble Tudor villages. There are antique stores, book stores, grocers, specialty food stores, gift shops and a variety of professional offices situated within these areas. The Winnetka Community House, a stately old Tudor mansion, serves the community as a hub for local activities and as a meeting place for a variety of local organizations. Programs of all sorts are held in the house, including art classes taught by the North Shore Art League, as well as music, dance and theater classes. The village has an extensive park system, recreation facilities and programs. Residents have their choice of three well-maintained beaches. The Lloyd Place Beach has a launching ramp for boats. The A.C. Nielsen Tennis Center and the Winnetka Ice Arena are also available for the enjoyment of residents.

Housing. Winnetka's housing is diverse and includes everything from Colonials, Tudors, Georgian and Victorian to unusual contemporary cottages. Many of Winnetka's homes are large and often have spacious property. The majority are 50 to 100 years old. The low sale price in 2006 was $578,762 with the average price of $1,640,233. However, Winnetka's mansions and homes situated on lakefront property can sell for as high as $13 million.

Schools. Elementary school children attend Crow Island, Hubbard Woods or Greeley for K-4th, Skokie for 5th-6th, and Carlton Washburne for 7th-8th grades. High school students attend New Trier High School in District 203. Freshmen go to the Northfield Campus, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors attend the Winnetka Campus.

Commuters board Metra trains at three different stations in Winnetka for a 27-minute express trip to the Loop and a 42-minute trip on the locals. O'Hare International Airport is a 30-minute drive, and Midway is 45-minutes away. Bus service is available throughout the village.
